Charge for the Caling Career Services Task Force Spring 2023

Background

Well over 60% of Cal State East Bay are the first in flame liles to attend college and earn a degree. These same individuals will also be figsine ration professionals who likely do not have the professional networks and social capitlat students from more privileged backgrounds ave. If our mission includes enhancing the cital and economic mobility of our students ensuring all students have access to robust career information and capterement support is part of our mission as well. Positioning our students for uscess in postgraduation job placement will have diffine economic benefits for outgraduates and will • } o ] ] (Ç o ^ š šrole in stuppo cine the regional workforce.

Cal State East Bay currently hasaæerservices unit, combined with our lower division academic advising unit (Academic Advisiagd Career Exploration or AACS) me degree programs require a practicum as part of the curriculum and are westablismd-3 (ti)5 (on o)-4 (r)5 (AAC)-3 (E)3 ().)-4 ()]*rt n B

- x Survey students to assess their current knowledge of, current use of, perceived need for career services and how those should be provided
- x Identify key services to be offered in our career servicestunitughout the studentifecycle;
- x Describe the current state of career services at Cal State East Bay and propose ideas for coordinating career advice and services offered at the college and departmental level
- x Identify any technology supports/platforms needed to streamline and placygireater access to career services
- x Make recommendations on how tocrease and deepen relationships with key employers the Bay Areaincluding our own alumni, to benefit students
- x Make recommendations on where within the university organization this might report. (Common reporting structures include Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, or Alumni Services.)
- x Identification of any additional issues to address in implementing this change.

/v ] š]} v U š Z] • d • I & } Œ Á] o o Áfjæ Eto pÁrdy ša Œ œ mogo in ⊛ ω Œ a tels as v še € leas ( sponsor open forums and retreats as needed to engage the Cal State East Bay community in this initiative.

Besides the assessments and research already completed, yeur core arged access other experts and consultants within the university (e.g., Institution affectiveness and esearch) to assist in this work. I am happy to meet with the Task Force as needed to answer any questions and provide other guidance.

I would appreciate receiving your report, even a preliminary report, by the end of spring semester 2023 so we can begin to implement initial changes during the summer of 2023.

Thank you for your willingness to participate in this important initiative. Not dolyxpanded career services haven potential to improve the lives of our students and graduates, but I sincerely hope Cal State East Bay can become wellownto potential students as and well-known by employers as