Toni Naccarato, Associate Professor

Kristen Gustavson, Assistant Professor

Rose Wong, Associate Professor, on leave for AY 19-20

Holly Vugia, Professor, on leave for Fall 2019

Dianne Rush Woods, Professor Emerita

As a 12-month position, the FFL would also be able to help with placing the incoming cohort over the summer months, add to the curriculum development and provide academic and professional advising to our students. This position will also support our maintenance of a 1:12 FSR within the department.

Writing Tutor

We request a part-time writing tutor to support our ~150 MSW students. As reported in our accreditation self-study submitted in August 2018, many of our students would benefit from additional support in writing. For example, just 76.2% of our CYF concentration students met the Field Fair – ($1000) - In February, we host a half-day field fair where representative from approximately 70 community-based internship agencies can meet our rising second-year students. This event provides an opportunity for students to learn about internship opportunities and network with agency representatives. This is the main way students begin the selection process for their second-year field placement. The funds requested would cover parking permits, coffee, and bagels for the 70 agency representatives, as well as refreshments for the 75 MSW students and 10 faculty and staff who attend this event.

Field Instructor Appreciation Luncheon ($1500) As noted above, our field instructors are volunteers who provide a minimum of 60 hours per year (and often more) of training and support to MSW students in their internships. For the past two years, we have not been able to show our appreciation for their hard work. When we had CERF funds, we were able to use them to host this appreciation luncheon where we re y rewe re y rewe re y rewe re y rewe re y rewe
